Dear Journal Contributor,

U.S. copyright law requires the transfer of copyright from an author, explicitly stated in writing, so that a publisher can publish and disseminate the author's work to the fullest extent. To fulfill this requirement, please sign and return this Publication Agreement to the journal editor. Notes: (a) If your manuscript has more than one author, all authors must sign this agreement; (b) if your manuscript was prepared as a "work made for hire," your employer must also sign this agreement as author.

PUBLICATION AGREEMENT

The undersigned author(s) submitted a manuscript entitled _____ for publication in Journal of Organizational Computing and Electronic Commerce published by Lawrence Erlbaum Associates, Inc.

The author(s) transfer(s) to Lawrence Erlbaum Associates, Inc., the exclusive rights comprised in the copyright of the article, if the article is published, except that the author(s) retain(s) the following:

1. All proprietary rights, other than copyright.
2. The right to post, after publication, all or part of the material on a web site created by the author (citing its published source).
3. The right to make copies of all or part of the material for use by the author(s) in teaching.
4. The right to use, after publication, all or part of the material in any book by the author(s).
5. The right to make copies of the work for circulation within an institution that employs the author(s).
6. The right to make oral presentations of the material.

In the case of works prepared under U.S. Government contract, the U.S. Government may reproduce, royalty-free, all or part of the material and may authorize others to do so, for official U.S. Government purposes only, if so required by the contract.

The author(s) agree(s) that all copies made under any of the conditions just listed will include a notice of the copyright of the publisher.

The author(s) warrant(s) that the manuscript is the original work of the author(s), that it has been submitted only to this journal, that it has not been published before, that it will not be distributed or posted in print or nonprint form during the period of submission to publication, that it does not contain any libelous or unlawful statements, and that it does not infringe on the rights of others. Note: You are responsible for all statements made in your work and for obtaining permission from copyright owners to reprint or adapt a table or figure or to reprint a lengthy quotation (check with the editor of this journal as to the cutoff point)—write to the original author(s) and publisher to request nonexclusive world rights in all languages to use the material in the present article and in future print and nonprint editions; provide copies of all permissions and credit lines obtained.
